
dyrl macross Macross: DYRL? clarification

Posted by Nev - 2009/08/01 22:58

After escaping the Zentradi space fleet, Rick and Lisa come across a beached military ship, which leads them to realize they're on a barren portion of Earth. Anyway, was that beached ship specifically the Prometheus or Dadelous or just an unnamed military ship? The answer has a small bearing on a project I'm muddling my way through.

=====

dyrl macross Macross: DYRL? clarification

Posted by Eric Harding - 2009/08/01 22:58

Anyway, was that beached ship specifically the Prometheus or Dadelous or just an unnamed military ship? The answer has a small bearing on a project I'm muddling my way through. It's the Prometheus. Eric

=====

dyrl macross Macross: DYRL? clarification

Posted by [cGc] Sickle - 2009/08/01 22:58

After escaping the Zentradi space fleet, Rick and Lisa come across a beached military ship, which leads them to realize they're on a barren portion of Earth. When Hikaru and Misa escape the Zentradi ship, the fleet opens a space fold, and they get caught in the backwash. Amazingly, their out of control plane manages to defold above Earth, which is good because that is where the next part of the plot for the movie needed them to be. Anyway, was that beached ship specifically the Prometheus or Dadelous or just an unnamed military ship? The answer has a small bearing on a project I'm muddling my way through. Just remember... Macross DYRL is a movie set within the Macross world. Think of yourself as a citizen of the new Earth who just survived on the Macross. Macross DYRL is a true-to-life movie about the things you just lived through in the past few years. Does that make sense? I could never properly explain this damned little detail.

=====